Mariana Machohan

Front-End Developer

I am a half creative person. Worked in the specialty for 9 years. I thought about changing the field of activity a long time ago, but fears that it was not mine that I would not succeed prevailed. One day in the spring of 2021, I had an advertisement to run a marathon for free. At that time I did not have a job, so I decided why not to try. Thanks to the marathon, I realized that it was mine. I didn't want to take the training course that they later offered to take... They taught for too long... I realized that it was mine and wanted to learn everything faster... So I started learning video lessons mainly from YouTube and pure theory database sites... At the moment I am studying JS for courses to get a certificate. Next I will also teach React, also with courses, also to get a certificate. In plans to start my career in IT as FrontEnd developer and go to FullStack in the future.
